Center For Academic Success Assessment Descriptions

Cognitive Map Assessment – This 48 question assessment will help a student determine the manner in which they learn. Learning is a process of gathering information and obtaining meaning from that information. Each of us has a preferred way of gathering information – reading, listening, watching or active engagement in the information.

LASSI (Learning and Study Strategies Inventory) – This assessment is a 10-scale, 80 question assessment of students' awareness about and use of learning and study strategies related to skill, will and self-regulation components of strategic learning. The focus is on thoughts, behaviors, attitudes, and beliefs that relate to successful learning and that can be altered through educational interventions. Research has repeatedly demonstrated that these factors contribute significantly to success in college and that they can be learned or enhanced through educational interventions such as learning and study skills courses. This assessment will determine students' strengths and weaknesses in the areas of attitude, motivation, time management, anxiety, concentration, information processing, selecting main ideas, using study aids, self testing, and test taking strategies.

Learning Styles Assessment – This assessment is a 14 question survey which will help a student determine their preferred learning style – visual, auditory or kinesthetic. By understanding their learning style(s), students will be able to make their study time more efficient and effectively used.

Study Habits Checklist Assessment – This assessment is a 44 question survey which analyzes a students' current study habits in the areas of physical study area, time management, previewing and reading textbooks, remembering, reviewing, class participation, paper writing, and test preparation and performance.
